Orientation - Welcome Why We Exist

Myers Home Buyers. Our agents buy houses. You're not here to learn how to hold open houses. You're here to become an investor-agent.

Slide 1:

WELCOME: Why we exist, title slide. Just sets the stage.

Slide 2:

The problem we solve, Myers is the only company that teaches real estate investment, supports brokerage and provides all the technology for YOU to build wealth.
Too many traditional agents, technology & regulation make it impossible for real estate agents to build wealth in the modern real estate market.

We Invest in Agents, Not Rent

Real Culture

Culture comes from people and connection.

Agents First

We give agents the tools and training to win. That's how we can afford to pay agents what we pay.

"This business model can't succeed without you succeeding, it's built into our economics." — Josh DeShong

Slide 4: What you get day 1 (Either or)

Everything you need to win, from day one.

- Myers University: Self-paced training platform
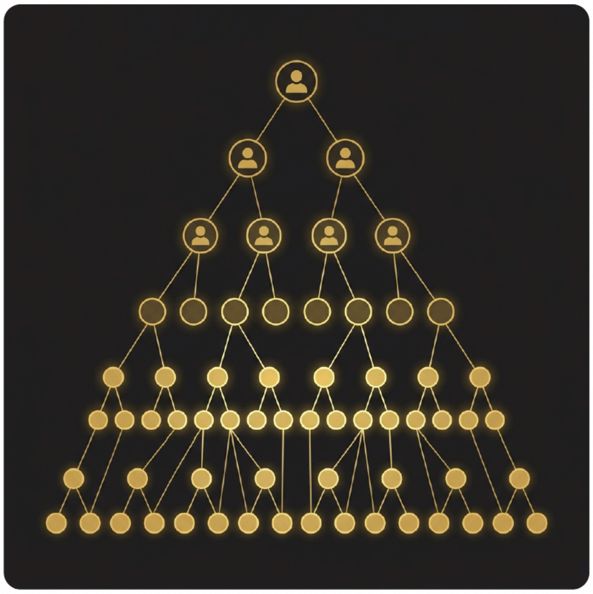
- Weekly Live Classes: led by investor-agents and industry professionals.
- Entrepreneurship Partnership: Your Brand. Your Business. Your Leads. Powered by Myers
- Technology: Myers Cloud, Carrot Website, CRM, and AI lead tools from day one, plus, our deal-distribution platform.
- Monthly socials: the culture is people, not a building.
- Full brokerage support: contracts, compliance, broker-of-record review..

Slide 5: Isnt this just an MLM [GRAPHIC: Person in Each Box // Percentage]

PASSIVE INCOME

6-Level Revenue Share



Level 1	Direct recruit production	25%
Level 2	Recruit's recruits	20%
Level 3	Third-tier network	15%
Level 4	Fourth-tier reach	10%
Level 5	Fifth-tier growth	5%
Level 6	Sixth-tier expansion	25%

*Percentages represent share of the revenue share pool, paid monthly.

Isn't this just an MLM?”

Your strongest people will eventually need you least. Revenue share gives them an exit plan that builds one for you, their tree growing is still your income. That's the model working, not breaking.

Slide 6: Where it’s Going

Where it's going

The vision: the leading residential investment platform in the U.S. a goal of 10,000+ investor-agents nationwide.

10,000+ investor-agents is a goal, not a current claim. Scale isn't a side effect — it's the whole point, and everything is built for it.

The Showing Time Line

The Showing Timeline

Create a countdown timer visual that conveys that the showing window is 1 hour, bidding closes 1 hour after the showing window, then, once the AA decides, the investor has

- Step 1 · Showing window (1 hour): investors view, inspect, decide.
- Step 2 · Bidding closes (1 hour after the showing ends): submit your best offer.
- Step 3 · Secure wire & contracts (2 hours): the winner has 2 hours after bidding ends to submit wire + contract, or the AA moves to the next buyer.

Buy It Now: skip the auction entirely, pay the posted price and submit the investor's signed contract and wire immediately.

Two Types of Deals

Assignment (Sell the Contract): Cheaper and faster, but once you assign it out you're no longer a party and lose control, and Texas law requires you to disclose your equitable interest in writing.

Double close: Two full closings. You stay a party to both, keep full control, keep the Buy and Sale prices private, and it needs funds (yours or transactional) to close the frontside.

Myers allows both; the double close is the more protected default. Either way, you always disclose material facts.

Three parties, two contracts
A
The seller
The current owner of record — the person you contract with first.

—--> Step 1: You contract to buy at the Buy Price, in your name or your entity's. The earnest money and option fee are your cost — your skin in the game, not reimbursed. What you own at this point isn't the house — it's equitable interest: a signed contract giving you the right to buy at a fixed price. That contract is the asset you're about to resell.

You (the investor-agent)
Buyer on the frontside, seller on the backside. You're the principal in the middle; you never plan to live there — you buy to resell for a spread.

—---> Step 2: Your real job: get the property in front of investors and find your end buyer. You set the Sale Price higher than the Buy Price, and the gap is the deal's spread before anyone's cut — the end buyer covers your frontside closing costs, so they're not in the math.

C
The end buyer

An investor, rehabber, or retail buyer who pays the higher price. C's funds are what actually pay off A at the title company.

Roles: Acquisitions & Sales

We also want to address the problem we solve. Like there's no other place that teaches or supports investing, allows traditional brokerage and teaches everything you need to know about investing. A couple visuals that I'd like to capture is essentially featuring big brokerages, gurus, and colleges with red x's over them or showing them that that's one of the worst ways you can go. Essentially, what we're trying to communicate is that we're their best option. Their only option and slaughtering off or burning off any doubts in their mind that they should go somewhere else. and perhaps asking the question, why focus on delivering value to the customer when focus should be creating value for yourself?

2. Acquisitions Your Role

You Are the Buyer: Find the seller or referral partner, run the numbers, get it under contract in your name (or your entity's). You put up the earnest money and option fee and handle any notices or terminations.

How You Win: Go Deep

Go deep with agents, investors, and wholesalers; market for deals. Stay locked on your weekly offer target.

Find deals. Make offers. Negotiate terms. Up to 60% of GCI per acquisition.

Unlocks at 3 closed sales or 12 months of experience.

- Find opportunities: off-market properties via prospecting, driving for dollars, cold calling, inbound leads.
- Make offers & negotiate: analyze ARV, estimate repairs, construct offers, negotiate with sellers and agents.
- Secure the property: signed contracts, coordinate with title, shepherd deals to closing.

Acquisitions Agent: Discipline

As an AA, you are the first line of quality control.

- See it before you buy it: don't acquire a property you haven't seen, unless the numbers are significantly de-risked.
- Never post below cost: deals cannot be listed below their acquisition price.
- Must have under contract: never post a property for sale unless you have it under contract. No exceptions.

---

3. Market Place:

Showing (silent auction): occupied or seller-restricted. One scheduled 1-hour showing, then choose: pay the buy-now price, or enter the auction. Required for properties in Dallas, Collin, Denton, Tarrant & Rockwall counties.

4. Sales

Sales Agents meet investors, communicate opportunities, and sell.

Sales Agent: Day-to-Day Responsibilities

- Build investor relationships: network, prospect, and build a book of verified investors who trust you and buy from you consistently.
- Communicate opportunities: when new properties hit the board, proactively reach out to your investors with deal details and showing schedules.
- Manage the sale: guide investors through the showing, bidding, contract, and deposit process. Ensure every step is completed on time.

||

Sales Agent: Rules

- Verify before you disclose: never share a property address until the investor has signed the MVP agreement. No exceptions.
- Keep it off the open market: never reveal the address or showing time in any public post, social media, ads, or listings.
- TREC logo compliance: everything you publish meets TREC requirements.

5. Investors

The Six Non-Negotiables for Investors

- 1 · Bring your own EMD: investors provide their own earnest money. No financing the deposit.
- 2 · No delaying the deposit: due within 2 hours, or the deal goes to the next buyer in line.
- 3 · No option period: once you commit, you're committed. Due diligence happens upfront.
- 4 · Double close: all transactions are structured as a double close. Myers sells to the investor as a principal.
- 5 · Cash or hard money only: no conventional or FHA financing.
- 6 · Close with Myers: all transactions close through Myers' designated title company. No outside closings.

Spec: TO BUILD: these six also become a standalone one-page card seen repeatedly (end of orientation, Reference Shelf, pinned in community). On the quiz they are pass/fail, 100% required, not 80%.

Rules for Every Agent, From Day One

Not role-specific. These bind every Myers agent the moment you join:

- Verify before you disclose: no address, no showing time, no flyer until the MVP agreement is signed. No exceptions.
- Keep it off the open market: never reveal an address or showing time in any public post, ad, or listing.
- Report all deals: every brokered or wholesaled transaction gets reported to Myers. Only exception: properties you close to rent, flip, or hold yourself. Unreported deals create legal liability for you and the brokerage and breach your agent agreement.
- TREC logo compliance: the Myers logo on all marketing where TREC requires it.

Agent Launch Week

Build a buyer list and turn the first names into partners.

Challenge:

Building a real fifteen name list. Scrape vet, and log investors around a live Myers Listing.

1. Pick one current Myers listing as your center point.
2. Tax roll scrape non owner occupant buyers from the last twelve months within a few miles.
3. Unmask at least one LLC.
4. Scip Trace at least three to a current mobile.
5. Log all fifteen with owner name, mailing address, and assist value.

Scripts: Calling, without overthinking it

Open: who you are, who you're with, and exactly why you're calling — they buy this type of property in this area.

Qualify: what they're buying now, price range, area, condition, how fast they close, and how they pay (cash / hard money / conventional).

Offer the path: if it fits, becoming a Myers Verified Partner gives priority access to inventory like this.

Set the next step: send the MVP, book a coffee, or send the next listing — never end on 'I'll follow up sometime.'

Never promise a return, timeline, or outcome on a specific deal — describe the access and process, and let real numbers sell.

Three moves that run through every call

Ask for you answer. Most objections are vague. Make them say what they actually mean first. redirect to the deal. If I get you a property at the price you want, is that a problem? Inca profits versus effort. a few hours of their time against the five figure spread is easy math. Make them do it.

The three objections you'll hear the most "I don't buy from wholesalers." separate us. Let them vent. They've been burned were different. Transparency, two hundred Google reviews. You decide with full info. Then if I get you the price you want, are you really going to be mad?

" Just assign it to me. Hold the line. No. We double closed So A title policy is in place. If the title is sheever surfaces that policy protects you, assignment leaves you exposed. I don't do showings. Remove the friction. Silent beds. Nobody sees your number. Is a potential worth two hours? I'll teach you the buyer count and my range before you ever drive out.

Adding a new investor in Zoho video.

The MVP

The MVP turns a phone contact into a real buyer relationship: it sets clear terms including the non-circumvent protection that keeps a deal from being routed around the agent who sourced it — and unlocks priority access. The moment you hear a verbal yes, send it for e-signature before you hang up. Unsigned by end of day? One same-day follow-up. Track every stage in Zoho.

Five signed by Friday isn't a vanity number — it's five people with a reason to answer your next call.

Two Coffees, to build what a call can't

Signing is remote; trust mostly isn't. Invite two investors who are engaged but not fully sold — a signed MVP who's gone quiet, or a strong qualify call that needs a face. Listen more than you pitch, get their real buy box in detail, and if you can, walk a property together. A repeat buyer is worth more than any single deal.

Pre-showing checklist

The $5,000 deposit — it is not earnest money; it's paid directly to Myers.
The two-hour clock — the moment a winner is announced, the SA sends the backside contract; the investor signs and delivers the deposit within two hours of the showing ending. Say it out loud up front.
Higher closing costs — have them budget ~3% of purchase price (higher as a % on cheaper homes; a $10k home still carries a $200–400 escrow fee).
Financing / funding source — cash, line of credit, or hard money. If hard money: experience, lender, requirements — and confirm no appraisal (an appraisal means the lender needs further access). Closing timeline and their ability to perform on time.
Leasebacks / lease transfers — if the seller is staying or a tenant is moving out, disclose terms and dates up front.

The promise that earns the next call: (fill out)

How to place a bid

Closing out the bid — the order is the point

Myers never accepts a deal until the investor is fully committed. The AA has final say — they're the party to the contract, and may pick a lower bid they trust more.

1

SA sends the backside package immediately

Don't sit on it. Send investor wiring instructions (Agent Resource Hub in Google Drive).

2

Investor signs first, then delivers the $5,000

Within two hours after bidding ends (typically ~4 hours after the showing begins). Wire, cashier's check, or money order — post the receipt screenshot to Slack.

3

AA signs last

Only after the investor has signed and the deposit is confirmed. Investor-first, AA-last, no exceptions.

4

Capture the lender

If applicable, get the lender's name, phone, email — the AA may call to confirm.

The stage deliverable: one MVP signed · one showing run clean · deposit confirmed.

The Seven Questions Every Investor Will Ask

They will test every rule you just learned, usually in the first conversation. Here's the line, and how to hold it:

Investor asks	Your answer
Can I get in before showings?	Probably not. Showings are scheduled to give every qualified buyer a fair shot.
Will you take $10K below buy-now right now?	No. The buy-now price is set. To negotiate, enter the auction during the showing window.

Will you take $3K as the deposit?	No. The deposit is $5,000, non-refundable, wire or cashier's check only.
Are closing dates negotiable?	No. Closing dates are firm and set by Myers.
Can you assign the contract to me?	No. All transactions run as a double close through Myers' title company.
Can you cover your side of closing costs?	No. Each party covers their own closing costs.
Will you pay my commission for a referral? (agents)	It depends. Contact your team lead, case by case.

Always get an offer, even below the starting price. Offers below start can still be workable, and they show your investor is serious.
